

You're walking through the school hallway when you hear some friends saying mean things about a classmate. You feel uncomfortable hearing such unkind comments, even though the classmate didn't hear them.

What will you do?

You promised your dad you'd help him clean the house this Saturday before your grandparents come over. But a friend just asked you to go to a movie you've been dying to see. What do you do?

You're shopping for a birthday present for your best friend when you see a T-shirt you want for yourself. You're really tempted to buy it. But you only have $15 to spend, and your friend's birthday is tomorrow.

What will you do?