She lives in Palm Springs, California with her husband and has three grown sons.

About Michele's Presentation

Empathy is often sidelined as a "soft skill." In Dr. Borba's presentation, Empathy is a Verb, she will offer hard evidence that empathy is one of the most important skills that 21st Century learners will need to thrive in a complex, global, and digitally-driven world, and why it must become an educational and societal priority. She will share ways that educators around the globe have weaved empathy-building practices into existing lessons and helped students to develop emphatic mindsets in a test-driven culture. Dr. Borba will provide practical ways to create positive outcomes by cultivating empathy in your school. She will share her decade long journey to discover how to optimize human potential. Surprisingly, it was children from Canada to Rwanda (and numerous places in between) who offered the best ideas to cultivate empathy. The best news: if applying these simple strategies together we can revolutionize not only our schools and homes, but also society...and build the best investment for our future: human capital.

ABOUT THIS SESSION: Join Russ for Data Boot Camp for School Counselors. The Data Boot Camp for School Counselors is designed to advance technological literacy among counselors in a useful and practical manner. Particular attention is given to using Microsoft Excel™ to make data an important part of your comprehensive school counseling program. From data-driven decision making, to monitoring progress, to reporting the positive impact you're having on kids — this workshop will demystify how it's done. Workshop content is pre-planned although flexible enough to meet individuals' specific technological training needs. Participants bring their own laptop so they can gain valuable hands-on practice. All participants will receive a 90 day pass to the online version of this training.

2. 15-Minute Counseling Techniques that Work: What You Didn't Learn in Grad School

Allison Edwards

SPEAKER BIO: Allison Edwards LPC, RPT is an affiliate professor in the Human Development Counseling department at Vanderbilt University, the author of Why Smart Kids Worry and Worry Says What? and the creator of Anxiety Tracker an iPhone app that helps track anxiety. Allison received her graduate degree in Counseling from Vanderbilt University and is a National Certified Counselor, Licensed Professional Counselor, and Registered Play Therapist. Allison has over 20 years experience working as a school teacher, school counselor, child/adolescent psychotherapist, and educational consultant to schools throughout the country.

Allison travels both nationally and internationally training professionals in the areas of empowering anxious children in the classroom, managing the emotional needs of students, recognizing the social/emotional needs of gifted students, and sharing how educators can talk to parents about student anxiety. Allison helps school leaders understand how social/emotional differences can be supported in their neurologically diverse student populations, and provides consultation and staff development on how to effectively improve emotion regulation in the classroom.

ABOUT THIS SESSION: Join Allison as she presents 15-Minute Counseling Techniques that Work. Feel like you don't have enough time to do counseling? Participants will learn 15 counseling techniques that can be implemented in less than 15 minutes from when a student walks into your office. The program can be suited to elementary, middle, or high school counselors (or a combination of all) and participants will not only learn the strategies but will be doing them alongside Allison as she teaches how to implement them. Get out your Play-Doh! This hands-on, experiential program will revolutionize your counseling department and help kids leave feeling empowered.

3. Academic Support Groups

Dr. Karen Griffith

SPEAKER BIO: Karen Griffith, PhD, LPC, worked in public education for 35 years, 27 as a school counselor, earning multiple state and national recognitions. Now retired, she works at the University of Georgia as an Assistant Professor (Term-Limited) in the Department of Counseling and Human Development Services, and with ASCA as a trainer on the national model, Lead RAMP Reviewer, and Peer Reviewer for the Journal of Counseling and Development. She has authored three books and several articles, and speaks at state and national conferences on a variety of topics. Her primary area of research is around resiliency.

ABOUT THIS SESSION: Join Karen for Academic Support Groups. Meeting the needs of students who are struggling with academic performance can be challenging. It is important to discover the unique needs of the underperforming students and then deliver the best possible counselor intervention. Dr. Griffith offers four main approaches to academic support: Goal Work, Enhancing Personal Motivation, Focus on Future, and Study Skills. Groups are offered around each of these approaches. This presentation offers ideas on how to assess underperforming students, place each in the best academic support group, and deliver a worthwhile group experience around the primary topic.

4. The Clinical Chain of Care: Suicide Screening and Collaborative Safety Planning

Dr. Alex Karydi

SPEAKER BIO: Dr. Alex Karydi, LMFT, CSAC, CAC, is a certified drug and alcohol counselor that has been trained in the impact of minority stress. She has a Masters in Clinical Psychology, Ph.D. in Clinical Sexology, and a Ph.D. in Marriage and Family Therapy. She has served for Richland 2 School District as a therapist and with the Department of Juvenile Justice (DJJ) as an evaluating psychologist with the designation of the State Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender (LGBT) youth coordinator. She is currently the Project Director for the SC Youth Suicide Prevention Initiative a community movement to end suicide in children and young adults. She has been working with kids and their families throughout her travels since 2000.

ABOUT THIS SESSION: Join Alex as she presents The Clinical Chain of Care: Suicide Screening and Collaborative Safety Planning. As the 2nd-leading cause of death in South Carolina for ages 10 to 24 in 2017, and the 10th-leading cause of death for all ages in 2016, suicide challenges the entire human services spectrum of clinical resources and the services they perform.

The responsibility of the clinician to assess, intervene, and monitor suicidal behavior presents a significant opportunity to save lives. Such a burden becomes especially daunting if clinicians are ill-prepared for such a situation or in a school environment. It has been well documented that clinicians from a wide range of professions will encounter individuals at risk for suicide. Many do not have confidence in dealing with such challenges, and the majority of clinicians, in various settings, have minimal to no training to competently deal with a clinical situation to prevent suicide. The goal of this session is to ensure that the clinical workforce is trained and prepared for suicide risk assessment, intervention, monitoring, and follow-up.
